

POSITION OPENING

2023

Town of Long Island, Maine

Animal Control Officer

The Town of Long Island currently has an opening for an Animal Control Officer. Work involves animal control activities including 1) responding to complaints; 2) conducting periodic patrols; 3) capture and transportation of any stray animals; 4) issuance of citations; 5) providing public information; 6) completion of monthly activity report and annual town meeting report; and 7) any other duties as may be assigned by the Town.

The position is under the general supervision of the Board of Selectmen acting through the Town Administrator.

Requirements of the work include knowledge of state law and local ordinances and procedures for general care and control of animals. Completion of the state basic training course and subsequent state certification must be done within six (6) months of appointment.

The annual stipend for this position is $1,038 plus expenses. Please forward a completed application available on the town website or a letter/email of interest to Brian Dudley (townadmin@longislandmaine.org).